

From a young age, I learned piano from my mother, who was a piano teacher, and I studied guitar under Mr. Ishidaira Osamu from junior high school. While studying various musical forms such as jazz and Latin music at Meza House Music College, I began my professional career in 1996 with a role as a guitarist in the drama "Shizukanaru Don." I participated in bands such as "Katsu Imaida Nowin" and "Carlos Sugano Sing."

From 2000 to 2005, I appeared as a regular band member on NHK Educational TV's "Minna no Hiroba da! Wan Park" and "Yume Rinrin Maru," where I was responsible for composition, arrangement, and band leadership. Currently, I am actively working as a freelance guitarist, providing live support and composing and arranging music across a wide range of genres, including Latin, jazz, and pop.
